

Sunday April 28

1205-1320h Lunch

1215 – 1300h Lunch Presentation *non accredited event

Migraine Management

Dr. David Dodick

At the conclusion of this presentation, the participant should be able to:

- Discuss the multimodal approach to the management of migraine.
- Describe the indications for and optimal approach to integrating new acute and preventive medications for the management of migraine.
- Explain the optimal outcome measures to monitor the effectiveness of treatments used in the management of migraine.

David W. Dodick, MD, is Emeritus Professor of Neurology. He is a Mayo Clinic Distinguished Investigator and Distinguished Educator. He founded and directed the headache and concussion programs at Mayo Clinic. He is Affiliate Professor at the University of Copenhagen, Guest Professor at the Norwegian University of Science and Technology, and Adjunct Professor at Thomas Jefferson University.

He has authored more than 900 peer-reviewed manuscripts and abstracts and authored/edited 13 books. He is the Chief Science Officer and Co-Chair of the Atria Academy of Science and Medicine, and Chief Medical Officer of Atria Health. He is Co-Director of the World Federation of Neurology's World Brain Day and Co-Chair of WFN's Public Awareness and Advocacy Committee. He is the co-founder and Chair of the International Concussion Society. He is the Chair of the American Brain Foundation and Immediate Past Chair of the International Headache Society's Global Patient Advocacy Coalition. He is Past Chair of the American Migraine Foundation. He is a former Editor-in-Chief of Cephalalgia, a Past-President of the American Headache Society and a Past-President of the International Headache Society.